

The Penguin

THE HALLEY BAY NEWSPAPER.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24th, 1966

A PORTUGUESE EMBASSY IN THE CONGO HAS BEEN ATTACKED BY AN ANGRY CROWD WHICH INJURED SOME MEMBERS OF THE STAFF.

IN RHODESIA, MR. IAN SMITH HAS BEEN RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF HIS PARTY.

THE AMERICANS HAVE AGAIN USED HEAVY STRATEGIC BOMBERS IN RAIDS ON NORTH VIETNAM.

THE WEST GERMAN CHANCELLOR HAS GONE TO WASHINGTON FOR TALKS WITH PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

In the Congo, hundreds of demonstrators have stormed and ransacked the Portuguese Embassy in Kinchasa, formerly Leopoldville. During the attack, the Portuguese Charge ~~des~~ d'Affaire and two members of his staff, one of them a woman, were man-handled and forcibly removed from the building. Later they were taken to hospital for treatment. Furniture and windows at the Embassy were smashed by the demonstrators, who also set fire to official papers and Embassy cars. Many of the crowd were reportedly refugees from Portuguese Angola. The Congo has recently accused Portugal of allowing Angola to be used as a base for mercenary troops in the pay of the former Prime Minister Mr. Tshombe, now in exile. Portugal has rejected the charge as unfounded. In the northern Congolese city of Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, fighting is reported to be still going on between Katanga gendarmes and troops loyal to the military government of President Mobutu.

Mr. Ian Smith has been re-elected unopposed as President of the Rhodesian Front Party, at its annual congress in Bulawayo. In Salisbury, the British Commonwealth Secretary, Mr. Button, is continuing his talks with the Rhodesians but a British spokesman says that no further meeting has been arranged with Mr. Smith for the weekend.

The Deputy Leader of the British Conservative Party, Mr. Maudling, told a news conference in Salisbury that he is more convinced than ever that a generally acceptable solution to the Rhodesia crisis can be found. Despite appearances, he said, sanctions against Rhodesia were having effect, and this would increase. Mr. Maudling, who has had talks with Mr. Smith, is going on to South Africa to meet the new Prime Minister, Mr. Foster.

The Americans are again using heavy strategic bombers in renewed attacks on targets in North Vietnam. They struck at military supply dumps and communications for the third time this week. This is only the fifth time in the Vietnam war that these strategic B52 bombers have been used; the previous two raids were in April.

The latest American proposals for peace in Vietnam have been denounced by the North Vietnamese and the Soviet Union. The North Vietnamese news agency described the American proposal offer to end the bombing of the north as "worn-out merchandise which has been peddled many times before." It says that the only solution is an unconditional halt to the bombing of the north, the withdrawal of all American forces from the South, and recognition of the Vietcong. At the United Nations, the Soviet Foreign Minister Mr. Gromyko took a similar line and added that the Soviet Union will go on helping North Vietnam. The Warsaw Pact countries would also give military aid if they are asked to do so, he said.

WORLD NEWS. Continued.

In China, the Peking Peoples Daily has admonished the United States and the Soviet Union for raising the issue of Vietnam at the United Nations. The paper says the Americans and the Russians are again collaborating strongly over Vietnam and are using the General Assembly to promote what it calls a new Peace Talks swindle. It adds that Vietnam has nothing to do with the United Nations, which has no right to discuss it.

The Governor of the Malaysian province of Sarawa has formally dismissed a Chief Minister, Datu Siman Ninkan after a vote of no confidence in him by the State Assembly, and Pengulu Tawi Slee, head of the Alliance Party, has been sworn in as his successor. Datu Ninkan, who heads the Sarawa National Party, has described his dismissal as illegal.

The West German Chancellor, Dr. Erhardt, accompanied by his Foreign and Defence Ministers, is on his way to Washington for two days of talks with President Johnson and other American leaders. They will discuss East-West relations, disarmament, and the future of the Atlantic Alliance. Before leaving Bonn, Dr. Erhardt said he was aware of the difficult tasks ahead of him. Correspondents in Bonn say some tough exchanges are expected. The West Germans are behind in helping to offset the costs of keeping American troops in Germany, and the United States is not expected to be enthusiastic about the German wish to share in NATO nuclear Defence.

The British Liberal leader, Mr. Grimond, says that his party believes that NATO must be maintained but its function should be reconsidered. In his final speech at the party's annual conference, he gave reasons for the necessity of this, which our reporter was unable to make out because of interference from the Beastie. On the Common Market, Mr. Grimond said he regretted that Britain may have missed her chance of getting into Europe. While sticking to her resolve to try again, she should now prepare alternative plans in case of a second failure.

The International Monetary Fund is to allow member countries to draw up to a half, instead of only a quarter, of their borrowing quotas. This was announced in Washington by the Managing Director, Mr. Schweitzer, who said that the new facility is intended mainly to provide more aid for the developing countries.

Japan is to give the United Nations $2½ million, to help it over its financial difficulties. This was announced by the Japanese Foreign Minister during a speech to the General Assembly.

The British government's chief scientific adviser, Sir Solly Zuckerman, is visiting Moscow. Correspondents say that he has had talks with leading Soviet scientists. Sir Solly's visit, which ends tomorrow, is at the invitation of a Soviet scientist who attended a recent conference in Canada on preventing the spread of nuclear weapons.

A rocket launching site for the European Space Research Organisation has been opened in Swedish Lapland. Some 50 rockets a year for 8 years will be fired into the ionosphere, to help scientists investigate the 'Northern Lights'. The nomads have been issued with transistor radios so that they can receive warning of launchings.

NEWS ABOUT BRITAIN.

The Minister of Labour, Mr. Gunter, is to discuss redundancies in the car industry at separate meetings next Wednesday with representatives of the Transport Workers Union and of the Vehicle Builders Union. At a mass meeting at the BMC Austin factory, in Birmingham, workers were told by Union leaders that the crisis in the industry was the worst since the 1930's. They said that a fifth of the workers at the factory might lose their jobs, and added that BMC were thinking of similar cuts in all their plants. This could mean about 20,000 men out of work.

The International Commercial Motor Show has opened in London with news of two big export orders for British vehicles. Leylands announced a £2½million contract to supply 1,000 lorries to Persia and the Rover Company has won an order from the Congo for more than 200 Landrovers, worth nearly £300,000. The export record of British vehicle manufacturers was praised by the Minister of Transport, Mrs. Castle, when she opened the show.

The number of road deaths in Britain in the first half of this year dropped by five percent compared with the same period last year. Mrs. Castle has described the figures as "showing a gleam of light". She said we must be glad of any improvement however slight. Fewer motorcyclists on the roads helped to keep accidents down..

A network of tunnel motorways out of Central London is the suggestion of the International Road Federation to help solve the city's traffic problems. Their plan is for 58 miles of tunnels which will carry four lanes of traffic in each direction. The tunnels would also accommodate mono-rail trains, and moving pavements called 'travellators', which would carry pedestrians. The total cost of such a project, the experts say, would be about £2,000,000,000. A comparable system above ground, they say, would cost four times as much.

The Ministry of Housing is considering whether ~~it~~ it is worth while to improve certain residential areas in Britain to stop them becoming slums. A team of experts has made a test study of Rochdale in Lancashire, and say that the majority of people take a pride in their home, but some, mostly elderly, can't afford to improve their houses.

At the Liberal Party Annual Conference at Brighton, the party leader Mr. Grimond was giving delegates advice about improving their public image. It is understood that Mr. Grimond, during a private session, asked them to ensure that resolutions for future assemblies were less complicated, and he asked them not to stage walk-outs in front of television cameras during less interesting debates. For the Young Liberals, their chairman said that their loyalty was not in doubt, in spite of their impatience with older members.

Members of the Hastings Archery Club, in traditional Lincoln green, will form a guard of honour for the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh when they visit Hastings at the end of next month. The Queen and the Duke will be inspecting the historical embroidery which depicts national events during the last 900 years, since the Norman Conquest.

The Temple Bar Memorial, where by tradition the Queen still stops to ask permission of the Lord Mayor of London to enter the city, is to be cleaned by a new sand-blasting technique. The pedestal, surmounted by a griffin, was built at the junction of Fleet Street and The Strand in 1880. It replaced a handsome gateway designed by Christopher Wren and built in 1672. There are records of a gate on the site since about 1300.

NEWS ABOUT BRITAIN. Continued.

A 17-year old keeper at the Coventry Zoo is still very ill in hospital after being mauled yesterday by a hippopotamus. The animal, made savage apparently by toothache, seized the youth in its mouth and dragged him into a pool. He was saved by the assistant Head Keeper, who, remembering that the hippo had once been in a circus, shouted "Open, open." It opened its mouth and the youth escaped.

The following information, provided by the Halley Bay Meteorological and Gash Hand Department, may be of interest to some of our readers, so here it is.

From 1200z obs. (10am at Halley Bay)

~~STANLEY~~

	STANLEY	SIGNY
Pressure	1010.1 rising	1010.5 rising
Temp.	+3 C	-6 C
Wind	090 06kts.	300 03kts
Viz.	10 miles	4 miles
Cloud	8/8 stratus 500 ft.	3/8 stratus 500 ft.
Past weather	cloudy/drizzle	--
Present weather	--	freezing drizzle
Sunshine yesterday	--	4.2 hrs

	BASE F	ADELAIDE I.	HALLEY BAY.
P	1010.5 rising	1009.7 rising	989.8 rising sharply
T	-4 C	-3 C	-29 C
W	Calm	350 02kts	130 04kts
V	200yds	15 miles	70 miles
C	obscured(fog)	7/8 altocu 6000ft	3/8 altocu 8000ft
PastW	Snow	Snow	fog
PresentW	Fog	--	cloud clearing
Sun	0.4 Hrs.	No Sun	9.0 hrs.

FORECAST for next 24 - 36 hours ;-

Same as today (they hope)

STOP PRESS SPORTS RESULTS

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

LEAUGE DIVISION 1.

Apologies for missing most of the 1st division which was caused by (guess who ?) trying (unsuccessfully) for over three quarters of an hour to get a time check. Sorry.

Sheffield W.	2	SHEFFIELD U.	2	Spurs	2	Notts F.	1.
W.B.A.	0	Stoke C.	1	West Ham	2	Southamptn.	2.

DIVISION 2.

Birmingham. C.	2	Rotherham U.	3	B'burn R.	1	Ipswich T.	2
Bolton W.	0	Wolves	0	Carlisle U.	2	Bristol C.	1
Charlton Ath.	5	Cardiff C.	0	Coventry C.	3	Bury	0
Derby Cty.	4	Hudd. T.	3	Norwich C.	1	P.N.E.	1
Plymouth A.	1	Xtal P.	0.	Portsmouth.	0	Millwall	1

DIVISION 3.

Bournemouth	1	L. Orient	0	Bristol R.	0	Oxford U.	1
Colchester	3	Oldham Ath.	2	Grimsby T.	4	Darlington	1
Mansfield T.	1	Q.P.R.	7	Midd'bro'	3	Workington	2
Perterbro' U.	0	Torquay U.	1	Reading	2	Swindon	1
Shrewsbry' T.	4	Scunthorpe	3	Swansea T	1	Gillingham	1
Walsall	2	Brighton	1

Division 4.

Bradford	0	Barrow	1	Brentford	1	Tranmere R.	1
Chester	3	York C.	1	Hartlepool	3	Exeter C.	1
Luton T.	4	Aldershot	0	Newport C.	3	Southend U.	0
Notts Cty	2	Lincoln C.	1	P. Vale	1	Crewe Alex.	1
Rochdale	1	Stokport Cty	0	Southport	1	Chesterfield	2.

SCOTTISH LEAUGE DIVISION 1.

Ayrdreonians	1	Falkirk	0	Ayr U.	0	Dundee U.	7
Clyde	1	Kilmarnoch	3	Dundee	1	Celtic	2
Hybernian	7	Particthistle	0	Rangers	3	Aberdeen	0
St. Johnston	3	Dunfirmlin	3	St. Mirran	0	Motherwell	5
Stirling A.	0	H. of Midd.	3

Division 2.

Arbroath	1	Albion Rvs.	1	Brekin C.	0	Dunbarton	0
Clyde Bank	0	Montrose	4	Cowdenbeath	1	Queens Park	2
E. Fife	2	Berwick R.	1	E. Stirling	1	Wraith Rvs	2
Hamilton	3	Foffar Ath.	2	Stenhouse'	2	Q. of South	6
Stranpar	2	Aloa Ath.	1	3rd. Lanark	1	Morton	1

AMATEUR INTERNATIONAL

England 2 v Ireland 0

XXXXXXXX DIVISION 1 : TABLE :

Chelsea	1	14 Pts.	Stoke City	2	13 Pts.
.....	3	13 Pts.	Leicester	4	12 Pts.
Manchester U.	5	12 Pts.	Burnley	6	11 Pts.
Sheffield W.	7	11 Pts.

RUGBY LEAGUE

K	Batley	7	Featherstone R.	9
	Blackpool Boro'	12	Huddersfield	17
	Bradford N.	7	Leeds	27
	Bramley	42	Dewsbury	8
	23	Oldham Oldham	15
	Hull K. R.	31	Doncaster	8
	Liverpool C.	12	Swinton	35
	Wakefield T.	42	Keefley	6
	Whitehaven	10	Barrow	12
	Wigan	28	Workington T.	16
	York	31	Leigh	13
	Rochdale H.	17	St. Helens	17

RUGBY UNION

Harlequins	8	Leicester	5
London Scottish	34	Merchant Taylors	6
London Welsh	17	Saracens	0
Inveraren (?)	15	Cardiff	12
Bedford	17	Richmond	8
Bristol	15	Gloucester	3
Llanethley (?)	14	Mosley	11
Sale	8	Coventry	34
Swansea	3	Newport	39
